Skin Care In Organ Transplant Patients
SCOPE

Welcome to Leiden

The "SCOPE meetings" have become major meetings for clinicians and basic scientists working in the challenging fields of cutaneous problems (e.g. skin cancer and skin infections) in organ transplant recipients. After fruitful meetings at venues all over Europe, we are now meeting in Leiden, The Netherlands for SCOPE's 22 year meeting, from October 23 to 25, 2025

The Congress will cover all aspects of skin problems in organ transplant patients and ways of intervention and treatment. Invited lectures will be given by experienced researchers in this specific field. The participants are invited to submit an abstract of which the most interesting will be selected for oral presentation. Aside from oral presentations there will also be ample time for informal contacts between clinicians and scientists who are involved in skin care in organ transplant recipients to exchange ideas and treatment options in this field. This exchange of knowledge is the key factor for innovative development in SCOPE.
